What kind of video will I get

All footage is captured and edited at native 1920 x 1080i resolution.

No degradation in image quality can occur at this stage due to the full HD workflow that our camera operators and editors employ so the vibrant colours, resolution and clarity of the footage from your wedding remains pristine.

We downscale all final movies to work on standard DVD players at PAL 720 x 576 resolution using the 16:9 widescreen aspect ratio, however, we now find that clients are opting to have the full HD version in order to more fully appreciate the images on screen.

Should you wish to obtain a copy of your wedding at full HD 1080i quality we provide the Blu-ray disc option.

Please note that you must have a suitable player such as a Sony PlayStation 3 or other dedicated hardware sources to play Blu-ray discs and your connected television or monitor must support the full HD standard or above.
